INTRODUCTION

The current climate provides challenging times for our members and the health system in general.

At BSRM, our vision is to ensure that, despite these turbulent times, we can support members by providing a voice on behalf of the fertility community in our health, social and medical education systems.

This update provides information about the services for members.

MEMBERSHIP

Are you a health professional working in the field of reproductive medicine?

BSRM supports ongoing professional development by offering the opportunity to be involved with a multidisciplinary, national organisation.

Membership to the Society is open for all individuals active in the field of reproductive medicine and science including medical doctors, biologists, scientists, students, nurses, midwives, laboratory technicians, counsellors, psychologists, and social workers.

We are convinced that high quality reproductive medicine is the result of interactive exchanges between all these professions.

Kindly support our initiatives by joining BSRM.

We're happy to have you with us.

Membership fees:

- ▶ Clinician – Reproductive biologist : 75 Euro
- ▶ Paramedical – Resident in training : 40 Euro
